

2008 HFES Fellows

The Human Factors and Ergonomics Society elected six Fellows and one Honorary Fellow during the Opening Plenary Session on September 23 during the HFES 52nd Annual Meeting.

Newly elected Fellows are Barrett S. Caldwell, associate professor at the School of Aeronautics and Astronautics, Purdue University; Sheryl L. Chappell, senior research associate at SA Technologies; Patricia R. DeLucia, coordinator of the human factors psychology program at Texas Tech University; Wayne D. Gray, professor and director of the CogWorks Laboratory, Cognitive Science Department, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute; Brian M. Kleiner, professor, Grado Department of Industrial and Systems Engineering, and faculty member, Myers-Lawson School of Construction, Virginia Tech; and John Brian Peacock, professor, Department of Safety Science at Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University, Prescott, Arizona.

The newest Honorary Fellow is Daniel G. Morrow, associate professor at the Institute of Aviation, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

Barrett S. Caldwell

Sheryl L. Chappell

Patricia R. DeLucia

Wayne D. Gray

Brian M. Kleiner

Daniel G. Morrow

John Brian Peacock