NOTE: Digital Library-Current is also available. It includes the same publications, covering 2006–2008. See the FAQ.

I believe that the Digital Library-Archive will greatly enhance our existing collection for the following reasons:

- It is relevant to my work/research/study and that of my students/associates.
- Faculty/students/employees in other departments will also find it relevant to their work/research/study.
- It contains articles on both research and applications.
- It is a very economical way to add significantly to our holdings in the human factors/ergonomics field.
- I am a member of the Human Factors and Ergonomics Society and can vouch for the credibility and quality of HFES publications.
